Part I, Line 2:

Funds are awarded to organizations that bring in special events, commonly sporting but sometimes other types of meetings or conventions, to help promote the event and ensure the event's success in bringing new visitors to the region. We do not ask for an accounting of such payments, other than requesting an invoice for payment. We know who we have paid, and how much. For some events there is an evaluation to determine room nights generated and it is an internal management decision to determine which events hold the most promise of bringing visitors to the region.

Compensation for the President/CEO is determined through review of compensation for similar CEO's of other national destination marketing organizations, obtained via a confidential survey from the Destinations International. We also review nonprofit salary surveys provided by Employers Council. This information is shared with the finance/audit committee who determines and approves President/CEO compensation under delegation of the Board of Directors.

Compensation for all other employees of the organization are established by the President/CEO with input from the CFO. Under his employment contract, the President/CEO has sole authority to set employee pay, within guidelines (budget) set by the Board of Directors. Employee pay amounts are provided to the finance/audit committee for review and discussion, with the President/CEO having final authority. Comparable data from DMAI and MSEC are used, along with President/CEO input on employee value.
